The fifteenth wedding anniversary of David Satterthwaite, Jr., and wife was held on Monday evening. Nearly 150 guests were present from the village and neighboring country. Many were present who were at the wedding also at the tenth anniversary. A very pleasant evening was spent. Light refreshments were served at eleven o'clock when the guests dispersed.

Thieves visited the village on Sunday night. They obtained tools by breaking into the blacksmith shop and then bored about a dozen holes in the door of M. W. Moon's store, but an inner lining of sheet iron kept them from succeeding. They also broke a window-pane in a second-story window, evidently for the purpose of entrance that way. They also visited B. Frank Burton's barn, leaving the doors open. Nothing of any value was missed however.

When a horse picks up a nail in his foot what does the driver do? Does he whip the limping, lagging animal and force him along? Not unless he wants to ruin the horse. At the first sign of lameness he jumps down, examines the foot and carefully removes the cause of the lameness. What is called "weak stomach" is like the lameness of the horse, only to be cured by removing the cause of the trouble. If you stimulate the stomach with "whisky medicines" you keep it going, but every day the condition is growing worse. A few doses sometimes of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will put the disordered stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition in perfect condition. Ninety-eight times in every hundred "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure the worst ailments originating in diseases of the stomach. It always helps. It almost always cures. To cure constipation use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're sure.

Persons who suffer from indigestion can not expect to live long, because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. J. Edward Wright, Central Pharmacy, 303 Mill street.

News of the County

Special Correspondence from Near-by Towns

DOYLESTOWN.

The investigation into the charges made by Rev. Alexander Alison concerning the presence of speakeasies in the borough of Bristol began here on Saturday before Judge Yerkes, and occupied the greater part of the day. No doubt the result of the investigation was a great relief to Dr. Alison, who was placed in an embarassing position, he having stated that the town was infested with some 30 or 40 places engaged in violating the liquor law. Dr. Alison qualified his statements somewhat as reported in the Gazette, but admitted that the report was practically correct. He would not say, however, that it was an unequivocal statement that he had made, and so was reduced to the plight of repudiating the report to that extent. The outcome of the case will no doubt be the arrest of two parties alleged to conduct questionable places. There was quite an array of witnesses and spectators when the hearing began. Dr. Alison took the stand and was examined by Judge Yerkes. He finally stated that he had no personal knowledge of any violation of the law, but had accepted the statement of Councilman Charles M. Guyon, Chairman of the Police Committee, that the town contained about 30 places of the character referred to. Dr. Alison said there had been a project on foot to organize a law and order society. The court inquired what was the purpose of this when it stood ready to punish violations of the law. Dr. Alison explained that the authorities desired the support of the public, which could best be manifested in this manner. Councilman Guyon was then called. He, too, had hearsay evidence, and admitted that he could produce no direct evidence of the existence of speakeasies. Frequently, however, citizens, mostly women, would appeal to him to prevent the sale of liquor to their husbands and sons, and in pursuit of this and the duties of his office he learned of a great many places of unsavory reputation, but had no positive evidence that they were violating the law. Mr. Guyon furnished the court with quite a list of these places. It looked for a time as though the case was about to fall through. Finally Officer John W. Wilkinson was called to the stand. Officer Wilkinson has a fashion of using pretty plain language, and he had not been on the stand two minutes before he involved one, Matthew Moll, who, he said, kept a regular ranch. Other witnesses followed with statements corroborating Officer Wilkinson, and all tending to show that drunkenness and disorderly conduct was a common occurrence at Moll's place. It was also stated that Constable Rue, who patrols that locality has never seemed to discover anything wrong at the Moll place. The next citizen involved was Andrew Jeffries, who was also alleged to conduct a place of questionable character. It appeared from the statement of Officer Wilkinson and others that there was great difficulty in inducing citizens to appear against offenders. Officer Wilkinson said plans had been discussed several times to make a general haul at the Moll house. While this testimony was being taken the case brightened up considerably for Dr. Alison and Councilman Guyon. The latter received a rather sharp lecture from the Court for not acquiring evidence and prosecuting the parties instead of going to Dr. Alison in the matter. However, the clergyman appeared to be not entirely mistaken, and the result will be in the direction of breaking up the speakeasy business if it really prevails to any extent. The court directed that the parties interested lodge information in the regular way through a Justice of the Peace, and stated that they could call upon the court stenographer for the notes taken in the hearing. Therefore the matter terminated happily for all concerned except the proprietors of the alleged whiskey joints. Quite a number of Bristol citizens were present at the hearing. One of them evidently had little difficulty in finding whiskey here, for he got in that state that he felt it incumbent upon him to take a hand in the case, which resulted in his going to jail until Tuesday morning for being drunk in court.

An interesting meeting of teachers of the Bucks County Sunday School Association was held at the Presbyterian church last week, the session taking the form of an institute, which was addressed by Mrs. J. Woodbridge Barnes, Secretary of the State Association. The Bucks County Association is preparing for very active work during the coming year. Doylestown had quite a series of religious meetings during the week. They were conducted at the Catholic, Methodist, Presbyterian and Reformed churches, and were diversified in character, some consisting of a series of addresses and others of revival services.

The Press League of Bucks and Montgomery counties held their annual meeting in Doylestown on Saturday. There was quite an array of newspaper men present. A pleasant feature of the meeting was the banquet at the Fountain House. The following officers were elected: President, J. Crawford Johnson, North Wales; Vice President, J. Wilmot Harvey, Lansdale; Secretary, C. D. Hotchkiss, Doylestown; Treasurer, B. Wickman Dambly, Skippack.

The Republicans and Democrats of the borough are preparing for the Spring election. The Democratic caucus was held on Saturday evening and the Republican caucus on Monday evening. Considerable interest will attach to the election of School Directors and members of Town Council. It is said the attitude of Council in relation to several trolley matters has been displeasing to enough people to make the result quite uncertain.

TULLYTOWN.

The present campaign for the spring election is being used again to display the mummified cadaver of the Tullytown overhead bridge. The history of this corpse is closely identified with the history of Tullytown politics for the past decade. About three years ago the borough Council passed an ordinance permitting the construction of a bridge. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company showed how lively an interest it took in the matter by utterly ignoring the ordinance. The question served the purpose of a campaign issue the following spring, and the next council repealed the ordinance. The railroad official who explained the proposed scheme at the time it was brought up in council stated afterwards that had he not supposed that the abolition of grade crossings was desired by the people of Tullytown he would have never taken the time and trouble to interest himself in the matter and that neither he nor the railroad company would ever take the matter up unless the people of Tullytown desired it. The corpse was laid away on a shelf not to be put into active service again until just before the county convention last fall when it was trotted out to serve as a factor in a factional fight in the republican party. An ordinance was presented to council and referred to the solicitor or tabled or disposed of in some way. The agitation was started. Within a few weeks the county convention was held. No one had any further use for the corpse and it was supposed that some kind hearted person had given it a decent burial. But lo! and behold! one of the candidates for the spring election had embalmed it and the day after the party caucuses pushed the poor battered mummy into the political arena. As of yore it had its effect and the mummy manipulator waxed joyful. It is alleged he posted one of the other candidates to get out and shout against bridge, for the old bridge corpse was a sure winner.

Now the issues before the council at this election are the trolley road and the extension of the sidewalk system, and good people of Tullytown, if you will scratch off the anti-bridge veneer of the men who are doing the squealing you will find in each and every case an opponent to both of these improvements. "You can fool all the people some of the time, and some of the people all the time," but at this particular time the people of Tullytown are in favor of the trolley road and the extension of sidewalk improvements and will not be fooled by a false issue.

A score or more of members of Ketoowah Tribe, I. O. of R. M. went to Eden last Monday evening. The degree team of Ketoowah Tribe, of Tullytown, performed the "Adoption," twenty-three pale faces being adopted into the Eden Tribe. Praise of the Tullytown Team, which is one of the best in the State, was heard on all sides. Great credit is due the team for its success under trying circumstances. Changes in the team are frequent on account of the floating character of a number of the members who are here today and away tomorrow. The present efficiency of the team is due in great part to the untiring efforts of Manager C. Wesley King.

Pocanah Tribe, of Eden, treated the boys right royally and furnished an excellent collation which was thoroughly appreciated.

Ketoowah's degree team will go to Trenton on February 13, to perform the "Adoption" by invitation of the Trenton tribes.

The local tribe will also attend the meeting at the wigwam of Mohican Tribe in Bristol on February 4.

Among the names mentioned as possibilities for County Treasurer next fall was that of a life-long resident of this borough Amos B. Headley. Mr. Headley has always been an ardent Republican, and his freedom from factional politics, together with large personal acquaintance throughout the county would make him a strong candidate before the people. It is doubtful if Mr. Headley would go into an active fight for the nomination, but his eminent services in the party would make that unnecessary.

Mr. Headley has been for years the Treasurer of Tullytown Borough and a Director of the Norristown Insane Asylum.

The cold weather of the early part of week raised the hopes of those directly interested in the ice crop. There is a sheet of ice about eight inches thick now on the pond but another cold snap will be needed to put the additional four inches on the coating of ice. Twelve inch ice is what the Ice Company requires before it will begin cutting the crop, and Tullytown workmen are anxiously awaiting that condition.

The regular monthly meeting of the Wm. Penn Building Association was held last Monday evening. Loans to the amount of about fifteen hundred dollars were applied for.

ATTLEBORO.

The Republicans held a caucus meeting on Saturday evening. One of the present councilmen whose term had expired was renominated, as was also the school board. Wm. Rumpf was nominated for second Justice of the Peace. Daniel H. Bilger was in luck. He secured two nominations. The Democrats also nominated a full ticket.

The regular monthly meeting of council was held on Wednesday, January 16. Thomas Bradfield presented a bid from a prominent Gas Light Company at the rate of $31 per lamp per year for 20 lamps or more, claimed to be double the power of the present mode of lighting. A member stated that coal oil street lamps could be furnished at $10 a year a piece. A citizen wished to know what provision council would make for the gathering of ashes if the present ordinance now under consideration is passed forbidding householders putting their ashes in the street. Frederick Rumpf objected to any further expense at the present time and warned council against excessive legislation.

Council was notified that the borough's proportion of the township's debt was $279.55. The treasurer presented the bids for bonds, three in number, one at par, one at $88 premium, both out of the county, the best bid being Horace Reader's of Newtown, of $35 premium, sixty days without interest at 4½ per cent., which was accepted.

The Board of Health presented a bill from Dr. Minster for $10.55 for diphtheria case.

Joseph Lenike for hauling cinders,	$ 23.10
John Buckman " "	105.27
Frank Duffield for furnishing "	250.54

Frederick Rumpf donated to the borough six car loads of cinders, value about $75.

Mr. Duffield notified council he would be able to furnish seventy-five car loads of cinders at the rate of fifteen car loads a week.

EMILIE.

Revival services continue in the Emilie Methodist Church, Mr. Coffman preaches every night. Miss Clara Boyd is assisting the pastor. She is an able speaker, greatly in earnest, and thoroughly sincere. Many gladly listen to her. She will preach on Sunday next both morning and evening.

Marble is said to exist in twenty-four of our States.

MORRISVILLE.

Mrs. Samuel Lukens is quite ill at her home.

Lewis R. Burns is convalescent after an attack of la grippe.

Fred Scully is spending a few days with relatives in Lambertville, N. J.

John Margerum is having a number of repairs made about his dwelling.

Mrs. Isaac Temple is confined to her home with a severe attack of la grippe.

Detective David H. Wharton is about again after a severe attack of la grippe.

William Melville has returned from a pleasant visit to friends in Philadelphia.

Harry Sine, son of Charles H. Sine, is convalescent after a severe attack of la grippe.

James Bunting has taken a position as motorman on the Yardley, Morrisville and Trenton trolley road.

Mrs. Samuel Smith, of Trenton, is spending a few days at the home of her brother, W. S. Gants.

Leonard Taylor, son of Postmaster Jos. S. Taylor, is able to be about again after a severe attack of la grippe.

Warren Hagerman, of Pittsfield, Mass., a former resident of this place, is spending a few weeks with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blinn and daughter, Elva, spent Sunday at the home of the former's parents in Oxford Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nay have returned home after a pleasant visit at the home of the former's mother in Asbury Park, N. J.

Mrs. Margaret Madison, of New York City, has returned after a pleasant visit here at the home of her sister, Mrs. Peter Roth.

The Misses Mary and Ella Chamberlain, of Long Branch, N. J., have been spending some time here as the guests of Miss Sadie Consolloy.

Miss Bertha Muschert, of Hamilton Square, N. J., spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Lewis B. Muschert.

James Fitzgerald has resigned his position as bartender at the Hoagland Hotel, and has accepted a similar position at the Robert Morris Hotel.

School teacher, Miss Carrie M. Fowler, of Stockton, Hunterdon county, N. J., spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Thaddeus Fowler.

There is again some talk by the members of Council of having Bridge street from Smith to Mill street macadamized in the spring, and if done it would certainly improve the business portion of this borough.

Work has commenced on the new steel bridge for the Yardley, Morrisville and Trenton trolley company over the canal on Smith street and when completed the cars will be able to make a circuit of the borough.

Constable Joel Mason, Jr., whose term of office as high constable would not expire until February 1902 resigned at the last meeting of Council held last week. Republicans and Democrats will nominate candidates to fill the unexpired term.

Council met on Thursday evening, the 17th inst. and passed the Trenton and Bristol Street Railway ordinance on final reading as reported by the ordinance committee, one of the principal features recommended by the committee and enacted into the franchise is the specified depth of the macadam between the tracks and for a distance of two feet from the outside of each rail to a depth of not less than nine inches. The first five inches is to be of course stone, the next three inches of a finer grade, and the upper inch of to be of fine dressing. Work on the construction of the road is to begin within six months from the approval of the ordinance and to be fully completed and operated in two years. The route on which permission was given is on Green and Smith streets to the corner of Bridge street, and from that point the indications are that the road will be eventually built across the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge to some convenient point in the city of Trenton, making a continuous route from Bristol to Trenton.

The Republicans held their primary meeting on the evening of the 18th instant in A. J. Wildman's warerooms. Charles H. Gants was elected president, W. E. Margolf and W. E. Watson secretaries; F. W. Wright, Judge, and Jesse Brooks and Benjamin Pege, tellers. The representation was very large, principally owing to the fact of the assessorship contest, Robert Hayes and G. M. Palmer were the principal contestants for the office. A resolution was adopted that when there are more than two candidates nominated for an office and no one receiving a majority of the votes cast, the lowest candidate be dropped after each ballot, and the balloting proceed until a candidate is elected. The following nominations were made: Overseer of Poor, Jacob Garman; Auditor, Walter Margerum; Assessor, Robert J. Hayes; Councilmen, Philip A. Case and G. M. Palmer; School Directors, Fred. Taylor and George Wharton; High Constable, Jacob Garman; Judge of Election, George Peze; Inspector, Harry J. Burns. A committee consisting of Tomlinson, Gants and Margolf was made to fill vacancies in case any should occur. There were contests for nearly every office, and more balloting was perhaps done that at any caucus held within the last five or six years. The ticket as a whole seems to meet with general satisfaction, and it is doubtful to state at this period whether any cutting on certain offices will be done. A great deal depends who the opposing candidates will be on the other ticket.

Royal Baking Powder

Makes The Food More Healthful

Royal Baking Powder possesses peculiar qualities not found in other leavening agents, which arise from the superior fitness, purity and healthfulness of its ingredients.

Royal Baking Powder leavens the food perfectly by its own inherent power without changing or impairing any of the elements of the flour.

Thus the hot-breads, hot-rolls and muffins, and the delicious hot griddle-cakes raised by the Royal Baking Powder are wholesome and digestible, and may be eaten without distress, even by persons of delicate digestion.

Alum baking powders are low priced, as alum costs but two cents a pound; but alum is a corrosive poison and it renders the baking powder dangerous to use in food.

PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

THURSDAY JANUARY 24, 1901.

In commenting upon the character of England's universally loved ruler an American orator once happily described her as the queeniest of women and most womanly of queens.

The opinions of contributors expressed in the Gazette are not, because they are published, necessarily endorsed by this paper. On matters of general interest we are glad to publish the views of others, provided of course that they are fairly and courteously advanced.

Victoria, Queen of Great Britain and Ireland and Empress of India, has passed away. At the time of her death she had not only reigned for a greater number of years than had any other ruler of Great Britain, but she was the oldest European sovereign. The Queen was a model woman and the greatest and best sovereign of modern times. The entire civilized world mourns her loss. She leaves an estate valued at over one hundred million dollars.

When ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker was asked by a reporter what he thought of Quay's election he replied: "I am sure that Pennsylvania's election is none of my funeral." While the great merchant may not have been present when breath expired and the "insurgent" movement became a corpse, there is a strong suspicion that had the result of the election been otherwise the parlor regiment Colonel would have leaped to the front and claimed a share in the victory.

The Sellersville Herald declares that Berks county has a half-dozen religious congregations that permit intoxicated pastors to enter the pulpit and preach the gospel to them. This condition is notorious but efforts to remedy the deplorable situation have thus far proven futile. In several churches near Reading the discipline is so lax that drunken ministers are allowed to conduct funeral services. A recent occurrence of this character led a correspondent to write a protesting letter to the Reformed church Record, of Reading.

The Philadelphia Inquirer says that Representative Wanger, of the Bucks-Montgomery district, who appointed young Booz and who led the fight in the House which resulted in the appointment of the committee, was warmly congratulated by his colleagues upon the conclusion of the committee's work on the good work performed by the probers.

Mr. Wanger said that it would be improper for him to discuss any details of the forthcoming report, but, speaking generally, he said:

"My judgment of it is that the report will be, in the main, a history of our inquiry, the conditions we found to have prevailed and, of course, our views as to the appropriate legislation necessary. So far as the punishment of cadets guilty of extremely brutal hazing is concerned, I do not think the committee will take any direct action. But how far the report will suggest to the War Department the disciplining of these cadets I am not prepared to say."

In an effort to minimize the force of the stalwart victory at Harrisburg on the 15th inst. the Doylestown Intelligencer says that "the people, by their suffrages, did not declare in favor of the re-election of Mr. Quay," and that "the electors, by their votes, sustained the result of the contests in the last legislature and the declaion of the National Senate upon Governor Stone's appointment." The same journal says that a minority of the legislature elected in November was converted into a majority in the Senatorial election. The Intelligencer should not make such unequivocal charges without being able to fully substantiate them. The Gazette has no desire but to act perfectly fair in the matter, therefore for the purpose of enlightenment it asks the Intelligencer to take a list of the present members of the legislature and designate those who were elected with the distinct understanding that they were to refrain from voting for Colonel Quay and to avoid participation in the Senatorial caucus. If such a roll call will show an adverse majority as claimed by the Intellicencer it will prove a revelation that will be a genuine bit of news.

The Congressional committee appointed to investigate the charges of alleged brutality which resulted in the death of Cadet Oscar L. Booz, of Bristol, concluded its mission at West Point on Saturday. The committee has faithfully performed its work and deserves the plaudits of the entire country. Its investigaton has been a searching one, and resulted in revealing the fact that students of the upper class tortured freshmen, or "plebes" in a manner that suggests the breeding of Indian savages or Chinese "boxers." Outrages that commanders of an army would not permit to be inflicted upon hostile prisoners were perpetrated by students of the Academy.

The members of the committee fearlessly and without favor or distinction probed to the very root of the evil. They worked nearly sixteen hours daily in public and executive sessions, and their labors were so effective that before the committee left West Point, the entire corps of cadets appeared through their class representatives and made a voluntary written agreement to abolish hazing in all of its forms.

Mr. Wanger and the rest of the committee have been successful far beyond the expectation of the people and their diligent service will have a blessed and unending effect which will reach the hearts of mothers and fathers in every state of the Union.

The committee expects to make a report in about ten days, and, it is said on good authority, they will recommend that the number of tactical officers at the West Point Academy be increased. It is also reported that they will say that the deaths of former Cadets Booz and Breth were not caused by the hazing they received at West Point.

In the case of Booz the testimony showed that he was not very strong at any time and, it is said, the members of the committee believe that his health had been injured by his treatment at the hands of his fellow cadets in the academy. At the same time it is claimed that the committee has failed to discover any connection between the swallowing of tabasco sauce and the subsequent death of Booz from tuberculosis.

DR. ALISON IN COURT.

After defaming the character of his home, by dramatically declaring in a borrowed pulpit that Bristol was disgraced by the presence of "thirty or forty speakeasies" which he inferred were permitted to exist by civil officials and professional politicians, Dr. Alexander Alison, pastor of the Bristol Presbyterian Church, was summoned into court on last Saturday to give testimony in corroboration of his public statements.

After being afforded every opportunity and ample time to substantiate the charges, the multitudinous number of cases of violation of the liquor laws, dwindled down to one disorderly house, where liquor was imbibed, but not sold, two places, where from a mass of testimony it was found hard cider had been purchased, and one case where a stableman sold a half-pint of rum on Sunday.

These are the dens that through a minister's powerful imagination and woeful exaggeration have caused Bristol to be looked upon by outsiders and those not familiar with the peculiar arts of local pulpit oratory, as a place to be avoided by respectable citizens.

At Dr. Alison's personal request one of Bristol's most honored citizens, whose integrity and correctness in matters of detail do not permit of the slightest question, was present during the delivery of the Thanksgiving Day sermon and took a stenographic report of the discourse, which was accurately transcribed and, upon request, published in the Gazette. After the publication Dr. Alison visited the Gazette office and bestowed compliments upon the correctness of the report and secured a number of extra copies of the paper.

The following, which was the subject matter of investigation at court on Saturday is reprinted from the report of the Thanksgiving Day sermon for the purpose of emphacizing its correctness. In that sermon the pastor said:

We want to make Bristol better and grander, and we can do an effective work with that end in view. What Bristol needs, he declared, is a law and order society, and this should be brought into existence for the good of the town. He believed such a society would daunt the politicians, and be fruitful of wholesome results. He warmly gave the saloons the benefit of his vigorous denunciation, but under our present license system he supposed we would have to endure them—a system which he condemned without softening his words. He advocated local option, and hoped the time would come when the people would be able to decide for themselves whether or not there should be places licensed to sell intoxicating drinks. Even so good and just a judge as Judge Yerkes should not have to decide upon granting licenses. Let that question rest with the people, and he believed a sentiment could be created in many localities that would be adverse to the granting of licenses. He was very pronounced in his attention to the thirty or forty "speak easies" that disgraced Bristol, and stated that he had the names and addresses of many of them in his pocket; and while we must tolerate the legitimate trade because it is legal, he declared with much spirit that we are not bound to have these hell hoels here to carry on their iniquitous business. He wasted no compliments on those officials who permitted these to exist. He did not hesitate to call the professional politicians, demagogues who winked at these illegal sources of evil. Create a sentiment against them through organized effort, and even the politicians, he contended, would watch the growth of that sentiment and yield to its healthful influence.

With the stenographic report of the sermon as a basis the Gazette made the following editorial comment:

In his Thanksgiving Day address at the union services in the Methodist Church, Rev. Dr. Alexander Alison, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, made some serious charges, which, if true, should be immediately investigated, and the court's attention is hereby directed to the same. Dr. Alison unequivocally states that there are thirty or forty "speak easies" that disgrace the borough, and that he has the names and addresses of many of them in his possession. Such being the case, it is Dr. Alison's duty as a good citizen to place his evidence in the hands of the constables and let prosecutions follow.

When Dr. Alison was examined by the court and faced with the serious charges, the pastor wriggled out of a tight hole by declaring that he repudiated the newspaper reports.

Nevertheless the Gazette has no hesitancy in reprinting them and is willing to stand by every word.

After examining a number of witnesses, censuring Dr. Alison for the manner in which he dealt with the alleged speak easy cases in his sermon, the court reviewed the matter practically as follows:

After allowing the charge to go unchallenged through the newspapers, Dr. Alison now comes to Court and frankly says that he had no direct information, but based his charge upon what he was informed the Chairman of the Police Committee suspected. As this court had just completed an investigation, however, such charges were a reflection upon the thoroughness and efficacy of the inquiry and could not be overlooked, hence this proceeding today. A good deal had been said about the want of public support and public endorsement of officers in the performance of their duties. The Court regarded much of that as clap-trap. If there is a disposition to have these things suppressed in Bristol the citizens of Bristol can best show their zeal therein by taking the usual course, rather than scattering charges broadcast. More work and less talk is a mark of good citizenship.

The use of the typewriter is playing havoc with the market for steel pens. A prominent New York stationer declares that during the past year his firm sold only half the number of pens that was sold during 1899. In commenting upon the supersedance of the writing machine the stationer said: "In almost every business house in the city typewriters are in use and in some houses they have a system of keeping books with typewriting machines. In the County Register's office all the records were for years kept with pen and ink, but now the copyists employed there are compelled to work typewriting machines. Deeds are copied into the record books with the aid of the typewriter and the copyist of today has not the political sinecure he had a few years ago when any school boy was competent to be a copyist in the Register's office. Hundreds of boxes of steel pens were in use there in those days, but now they only use about one per cent of the quantity formerly required.

"I would not be surprised if within the next few years several pen manufactures gave up business."

Several young ladies of Hulmeville, with an athletic turn of mind, have organized a club which meets every Friday evening at the pavilion in the Hulmeville Park to enjoy the sport of basket ball. Instructors, A. K. Shaw and Charles Haefner.

The New York Sun's heaviest editorial duty appears to partake an official palliation for all the sins of omission and commission of the war and navy departments. After it was proven conclusively to the country that many of the West Point cadets were possessed of the instincts of human beasts and had not only indulged in practices which were prohibited by the laws of the state, but were barbarous, the Sun, in mitigation, declares:

"West Point is a mighty good military school. The best in the world. And we are all proud of it except a few permanent victims of Bryanity and Bryanarchy.

The erring upper classmen are, after all, only boys, necessarily not so sage and lessoned as the urbane Mr. Driggs, for example. They mean to do right. They mean to be brave, truthful and decent. If they have done cruel and cowardly things, they have been misled by a false code and standard, a tyrannical custom. In every school, in every college, something of injustice and nonsense is done, something of social ostracism or persecution."

The Sun has earnestly pleaded the cause of General Eagan, who was dismissed from the army in disgrace for his foul and insulting remarks to his superior officer, General Miles. In its frenzy to serve the bureaucratic officers in the department the Sun most unjustly assailed the commanding general of the army, declaring that the old Indian fighter and war veteran was a disgrace to his uniform. The Sun has also most bitterly assailed the naval hero of Santiago and is at present engaged in an effort to induce the promotion of a naval officer who not only did not participate in the battle but attempted to filch the glory to which another was entitled. The Sun is engaged in peculiar tasks.

Last week the Gazette called attention to the disreputable attack made upon Senator Sproul by the Philadelphia Record. Then we said the citizens of Delaware county would resent the unjust criticism. The statements made in refutation have been verified by the following dispatch from Chester:

"Friends of Senator Sproul in Delaware county are hot in criticism of a dispatch from Harrisburg printed in the Record in which he is characterized as a 'traitor' because he voted for Senator Quay.

"Attention is called to Senator Sproul's ante-election pledges, in which he fully announced his attention to abide by the Republican caucus in the matter of the Senatorial contest, and it was with this understanding that he was nominated and voted for in Delaware county last fall. Senator Sproul has his own views as to the State organization, but he undoubtedly was bound by his pledges to vote as the Republican caucus ordered. In doing so he only kept his word, as those who voted for him expected he would."

In order to partially atone for its bitter and unwarranted attack upon private character, the Record made the following editorial apology:

"The friends of Senator Sproul, of Delaware county, as our news columns state, question the correctness of the term 'traitor' as applied to him by a Harrisburg correspondent of the Record in a dispatch which was sent and printed in the hent of an exciting political contest. If the facts be as stated (which the Record does not doubt) the use of the term complained of was unwarranted. The Record regrets that Senator Sproul felt called upon to vote for Senator Quay, but it also regrets that it became the medium whereby there has been a misrepresentation of his motives and position."

Mr. Gillette in "Serhlock Holmes."

An engagement of the greatest possible interest to patrons of the theatre is announced for the Broad Street Theatre, Philadelphia, to begin on January 28th, for a run of three weeks. On the date Chares Frohman will present, for the first time there, the celebrated actor-author, William Gillette, in his famous drama, "Sherlock Holmes." It is safe to say that no drama produced in recent years has created such genuine sensation or has proven to be such a surprise in stage realism, as Mr. Gillette's dramatization of the Conan Doylestories. For thirty-six weeks last season, "Sherlock Holmes" ran to capacity audiences at the Garrick Theatre in New York at every performance and the limited engagement to be played in Philadelphia is certain to prove a record breaking one. The story of the play deals with a hitherto unpublished incident in the life of the great detective of fiction, showing his connection with the strange case of Miss Faulkner. It tells of the battle for supremecy between Holmes and Prof. Morarity, London's past master of crime is one of the most interesting of stories. The stage version has been declared to be the most absorbingly thrilling play ever produced. It is not enough to say that there is not a dull moment in it. There is scarcely a moment without a thrill. Mr. Gillette, who has always been one of the greatest masters of stagecraft in the country has introduced into "Sherlock Holmes," the most elaborate and effective use of electricity that has ever been attempted and it is said to add greatly to the interest of the play. The talented author-actor hardly requires an introduction. For years he has been known as a man who annually produced one of the best plays of the season and he has to his credit such successes as "The Private Secretary," "Too Much Johnson," "Because She Loved Him So," "Held by the Enemy" and "Secret Service." Great as these plays were they do not approach the success which has been attained by "Sherlock Holmes" which is declared to be one of the most perfect, as well as one of the most interesting—a play in fact which defies criticism and analysis and which for interest absorbing qualities has never been equaled. Mr. Gillette in this play will be found to still be pursuing his naturalistic methods of acting which adds so much to the realism of the drama. The play, it is said, moves like clockwork and the incidents strike the hour of dramatic excitement every time, for in detail it is well nigh perfect. During Mr. Gillette's engagement at the Broad, matinees will be given on Saturday only at 2 p. m., and to enable out of town residents to see the performance, the curtain will ring up at 8 o'clock sharp every evening. At the end of the Philadelphia engagement, Mr. Gillette plays in Boston, then he and his entire company go to Sir Henry Irving's Lyceum Theatre, London, where "Sherlock Holmes" is booked to run for a year.

Building a City.

There has been talk lately in some of the papers of the eastern States of a project of building a city somewhere in the United States, probably in one of the newer western States, that should be the model city of the whole world.

The site to be selected is to have every advantage of transportation facilities, water supply, etc., to begin with. The plan of the city is to be completed before a building is to be erected, so the streets and parks should be adequate, and location of business houses, dwellings, public offices, schools, &c., should be the best possible. The public utilities, such as street car lines, water works, gas works, telephones, electric light plants, and all other franchises are to be the property of the city, held for the benefit of all the people, thus saving the enormous expense for such things that is usually paid to great corporations.

The building of such a city was not practicable in former years, but is believed to be practicable now, and if undertaken and carried to success may help to solve some of the hardest problems in the government of every great city.—Cadiz (Ohio) Republican.

Some Common Mistakes.

There are two expressions that mar the language of many persons who otherwise speak good English. Anyone can see at a glance that the expressions are ungrammatical, and the only reason that we go on using them is that our attention is not called to them often enough or forcibly enough. The phrases are "don't" with "he," "she" or "it" as a subject, and "those kind" or those kind."

"Don't" is the legitimate contraction of "do not," and may be used colloquially wherever "do not" is correct. Our mistake is in using "don't" where we all know it would be ridiculous to use "do not," of which "don't" is the grammatical equivalent. The verb "do," present indicative negative, is conjugated:

Singular.	Plural.
I do not.	We do not.
You do not.	You do not.
He does not.	They do not.

The proper contractions for these forms are:

I don't.	We don't.
You don't.	You don't.
He doesn't.	They don't.

The contraction "don't," then, is correct in all the pesons and numbers of the present tense except the third person singular. There the form of the verb is seen to be "does" and the contraction of the negative "doesn't." It is no more correct to say "he don't," "she don't" or "it don't" than it would be to say "he do not," "she do not" or "it do not," for the first three forms are merely contractions of the last three, and if the full form is incorrect the contracted one is also. There is no more reason, indeed, for our using "do" with "he," "she" or "it" than for our using "does" with "they." The proper forms are always "he doesn't", "she doesn't," "it doesn't" and "they don't."

The mistake in the expression, "these kind," is also one of syntax. Instead of a lack of agreement between a verb and its subject, as it the case of "he don't," we have a lack of agreement between a noun and the adjective which modifies or limits it. "This" and "that" are demonstrative adjectives; that is, adjectives that point out. "This" points out an object near the speaker, "that" an object farther removed from him. These two adjectives are the only ones in English that have a special form for the plural, the plural forms of the two words being respectively "these" and "those." According to the rule that adjectives agree in gender and number with the nouns that they modify, we must use the form "this" or "that" if the demonstrative modifies a singular, and "these" or "those" if it modifies a plural noun. "Kind," of course, is singular, the plural of it being "kinds." Therefore we say correctly, "this kind," "these kinds," and "that kind," "those kinds"; and we speak as ungrammatically in saying "these kind" or "those kind" as if we were to say "these boy" or "those boy."

What follows the noun has no influence on the construction here, as some persons falsely imagine. A plural noun after "kind" does not make it correct to use a plural adjective before it. The sentences "I like those kind of books" and "She doesn't care for those kind of curtains" sound better perhaps than "I like those kind" or "Those kind are her favorite," but they are equally incorrect, for the plural noun following "kind" has nothing to do with the construction of "those." It is right to say "I like those curtains," but instead of "I like those kind of curtains" we should say "I like that kind of curtain." Kind is mentioned here as typical of a group of words the rest of which are similiarly but less frequently misused; for example, "class," "sort," "species," "assortment." They are all collective nouns, which are grammatically singular, and call for the singular of any adjective that modifies them.

Another mistake that is common, though not so common as "he don't" and "these kind," is the use of "a" after "kind of." Of course, the expressions "a kind of a good time," "kind of pretty," "a kind of a nice girl" and so forth are beneath criticism, though one hears them occasionally. "Kind of a" or "kind of" in these cases either should be omitted entirely, leaving the phrases "a good time," "pretty," "a nice girl;" should be replaced by "rather," making them "a rather good time," "rather pretty," "a rather nice girl." There is a use of "kind of," however, that is justified, provided that the phrase is not followed by "a"—namely, when we wish to use it before words taken in a general sense denoting a class. For example: "What sort of a man is he?" "What kind of dog have you lost?" "What sort of person do they imitate!" "I like that kind of book." There is a temptation in these and similar cases to put in an "a" after "kind of" because the following noun is singular. "Man," "dog," "person" and "book" are singular, to be sure; but each is here the name not of an individual, but of a class, and hence should not be preceded by the indefinite article which limits it to an individual. There is a common-sense way of putting the objection that appeals more strongly perhaps than this logical way. In such sentences as "I do not like that kind of a book," to take one instance, the presence of the "a" spoils the meaning. When we say "that kind of a book" our words presuppose an absurdity, for they imply that there can be several kinds of one book, which is manifestly impossible. But we may properly specify a certain kind of book and the phrase "that kind of book" makes good sense, for when the "a" is left out "book" no longer means a single book, but is the name of a whole class and includes all books and hence all varieties of books.

Some time ago the Newtown Electric Street Railway Company experimented to some extent with a ball-bearing truck, but no very definite results were reached. The trials of the car are to be resumed shortly and accurate tests made.

Asher R. Lear, proprietor of Flowing Well and Curley Hill Creameries, paid his patrons 30 cents for butter fat during December and 31 and 32 cents during November.

Cyrus B. White, of Newtown, now engaged in the life insurance business, has purchased the stock and fixtures of Chas. H. Keiser's store, at Attleboro. Horace G. Reeder, agent, made the sale. Mr. White, who is an experienced storekeeper, will take possession on February 1.

A meeting will be held at Wrightstown at ten o'clock on Wednesday, January 30, for the purpose of settling the amount of damages, if any, sustained by the Wrightstown and Newtown Turnpike Road Company by the laying of tracks and the operation of the cars by the Newtown Electric Street Railway Company for a short distance over the turnpike. The jury appointed by the Court in the case includes Thomas Haddon, Elwood R. Mathews, Townsend Worthington, Aden Brinker and Ernest E. Faville.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

This season there is a large death rate among children from croup and lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. Pleasant to take. J. Edward Wright, Central Pharmacy, 303 Mill street.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquids embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, N. Y.

Ordinance No. 13.

Granting permission to the Trenton and Bristol Street Railway Company, or assigns, to lay tracks along the Frankford and Bristol turnpike road in the Borough of Tullytown, and to operate its road and proposed extension thereof by electric power, and to erect poles and other apparatus, stringing wires and maintaining the same, for that purpose, and imposing regulations, conditions and restrictions, in respect thereto, and in respect to the maintenance of the track and roadbed upon which said tracks are, or may hereafter be, located.

Section 1. Be it enacted and ordained by the Burgess and Council of the Borough of Tullytown and it is hereby ordained and enacted by authority of the same, that permission be, and the same is hereby granted to the Trenton and Bristol Street Railway Company, or assigns, to build and operate its road and proposed extensions thereof within the limits of the Borough of Tullytown by electrical power, and for that purpose to erect poles and string wires and maintain the same, and do all and every lawful act and thing necessary to construct and re-construct, and equip and re-equip said railway and road-bed with all necessary turnouts, and maintain the same and to operate the said railway with electric motors. The said motors shall be supplied from overhead wires supported by poles not less than twenty feet high above ground when the said Company, or assigns, is authorized to erect and maintain and to be placed opposite each other within the curb lines and connected with street wires.

Sec. 2. The poles used in construction, or re-construction of said railway, shall be straight and smooth and be placed on the inside of the curb, about four inches therefrom, and in such a manner as to cause the least possible obstruction and injury to the curb and sidewalk, and so as not to unnece-sarily obstruct such portions of the front of private property as may be needed or be lawfully in use for business purposes by the owner, or tenant, of such property. In case a dispute arises as to the placing or locating of such poles the Street Committee shall decide where the same shall be located. No poles required by the said Company, or assigns, shall be placed on the outside of the curb line of the street, without the express permission of the street Committee, and all poles shall be erected, located and maintained under the supervision of said Street Committee.

Sec. 3. In constructing, or re-construction of the road-beds and railway tracks, the said Company, or assigns, shall cause their tracks to be laid, or re-laid, and kept on a level with the present establi-hed grade, or the grade that may hereafter be established for the street on which said tracks are now located, or may hereafter be located. The rails used by the said Company, or assigns, in the construction, maintainance and operation of their road within the Borough limits, shall be of the regular city or street pattern of rail, with a flat tread of at least two and seven-eighth inches wide on the inside of the car wheels tread for wagons and shall be laid in the middle of the street, and shall be laid of such a distance apart that wagon wheels of ordinary gauge can run thereon.

The said Company, or assigns, shall keep the road between the rails and for a distance of eighteen inches from the outside of each rail, through the Borough in good repair at their own expense. The Railway Company, or assigns, shall fill in between the rails, and for a distance of eigh een inches from the outside of each rail, through the Borough limits with stone ballast, to within two inches of the top and then fill to the top with fine, screened, crushed stone so as to form a smooth surface on the street. Whenever and wherever poles are erected by the said Company, or assigns, it shall carefully re-place the material excavated, and re-lay and keep in good repair all bricks, flagging, or other paving so that the said walks shall be in good condition and according to Borough regulations.

Sec. 4. The said Railway Company, or assigns, shall, as fast as the trenches are dug out for tracks, put in ties and spike on rails and fill up with eight inches of stone ballast, and cover it over two inches thick with fine crushed stone, so as not to leave the street in a rough and dangerous condition, and so that when they are digging out trenches the tracks will be all filled up and completed.

Sec. 5. The said Railway Company, or assigns, shall at all times be liable for any and all damages done to individuals or to private or public property by reason of any default or defective construction, or maintainance of its road-bed, railway tracks, poles, wires, or other apparatus, and should any damage be recovered against the Borough by reason of any faulty or defective construction, or maintainance, as aforesaid, such sums shall be recoverable by the Borough from the Company, or assigns, as debts of like amount are by law recoverable.

Sec. 6. In removing snow, or ice, from the tracks of the said Company, or assigns, the same shall not be thrown in heaps along the said side of the tracks, but shall be carefully and evenly distributed so as not to obstruct travel.

Sec. 7. Work under this ordinance shall be completed and in operation within two years from the date of the passage of this ordinance, unless an extension of time be granted by the Burgess and Town Council.

Sec. 8. The said Railway Company, or assigns, under its seal and through its proper officers duly authorized by its board of directors to act, shall within fifteen days after the approval of this ordinance, signify in proper writing, filed with the Clerk of Council, their acceptance of the regulations, conditions and restrictions of this ordinance.

Sec. 9. And it is hereby further provided, that the said Trenton and Bristol Street Railway Company, or assigns, shall be at all expense of the necessary advertising of this ordinance.

Sec. 10. All ordinances, and parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith, are hereby repealed.

Enacted into ordinance this seventh day of January, A. D. 1901.

C. H. READ, President.

Approved this ninth day of January, A. D. 1901. JOHN LURTON, Jr., Chief Burgess.

THE GRIP EPIDEMIC.

The Disease More Prevalent than Ever and Quite as Fatal. The est Treatment

The grip has surprised the doctors and health authorities this season by its rapid spread and by some novel symptoms. While it spares nobody it is proving especially dangerous to middle-aged and elderly persons. In many cases either a fatal onset of pneumonia, or a complete breakdown of health and strength, is apt to follow an attack of grip.

The wise course for all is prevention. By wearing a Benson's Porous Plaster on the chest and back you protect the lungs from cold and chill and (with ordinary care) you are safe from grip.

For those who are already suffering from grip, or from usual winter coughs and colds, Benson's Plasters are a sure and speedy relief and cure. Highly medicinal and scientific.

Refuse imitations and substitutes. Only the genuine are effective. Examine when you buy. Seabury & Johnson, Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

It Pays to Paint.

There is nothing that adds to the selling value or the renting value of a house like good paint—there is nothing that makes home more home-like than good paint. It pays to paint. The better the paint, the better it pays. Then if you are going to paint you want the best material for it.

Looks Like Business.

Material for the new trolley line from Trenton to Bristol, via Morrisville, Fallsington and Emilie, will soon be on hand. Some 1320 tons of steel rails, 60 feet long, and weighing 70 lbs to the yard, are now enroute, and Edward Mason, of Morrisville, has secured the contract to deliver the same along the proposed line. The first shipment will be made on February 1st, and the material will continue to arrive at intervals until all is delivered. It will be distributed at four points of easy access to the work, as follows: Bristol, Fallsington, Coal and Ice Siding and at Morrisville.

Township Primaries.

The Bristol township Republican primaries will be held on Saturday, when candidates will be nominated for supervisors, assessors, overseer of the poor, treasurer, collector, school directors, town clerk and election officers. Nearly all the interest is centred in the contests for road supervisors. In the east district there are half a dozen candidates and the fight is a bitter one. The fact that the proposed Bristol and Trenton trolley line will have to gain the consent of the supervisor before occupying the old Bristol pike has been the means of causing a scramble for the office. The contest has become so fierce it is more than likely that at the polls the Democratic candidate will be successful in overcoming the small Republican majority.

The Schools.

Much attention is being given throughout the county this winter to the study of local history in the schools.

Next Friday, January 25, will be observed as Local History Day by the Bristol schools. That morning the exercises in High School Assembly Hall, at 9 a. m., will be appropriate to the subject. The teachers and pupils have worked earnestly together material in regard to the past history of Bristol, and they have found much of interest. Friends and patrons of the schools will be very welcome at that time.

The sixth annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Association of School Directors will be held in Assembly Hall of the High School Building, Harrisburg, Pa., February 14th and 15th. This association is doing an excellent work in leading the way to an intelligent understanding of the relation of the public to the schools. None will now deny the importance and influence of the schools, nor their claim to the full support of the people, and recognition by them of the earnest efforts made to train the pupils to become good, useful members of society.

Buying More Properties.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is still purchasing valuable property in Morrisville with a view to straightening their tracks in that borough and Trenton. Some time ago the Railroad Company bought several properties in Morrisville, and last week acquired three more, those of Headley Harper, Thomas Stockham and Charles Gill, all on Green street, about three hundred feet below the railroad line.

In Trenton the Company some time ago bought one hundred houses. The straightening of the line at that point will be an expensive work, but not more so than a costly accident, which is feared unless the sharp curve is taken out of the tracks.

It has been learned on good authority that the Company will do away with all their railroad local stations between Trenton and Bristol, and conduct this passenger traffic almost wholly by trolley on the road of the Trenton and Bristol Company, behind which are several well-known Pennsylvania Railroad men. Land has been secured at Bristol for the straightening of the railroad company's tracks and for the avoidance of grade crossings. From Edgely to Bristol the tracks will be almost an air line.

Trolley Ordinance Passed.

At a special meeting of the Borough Council on Friday evening, the ordinance granting permission to The Trenton and Bristol Street Railway Company to lay tracks, string wires and operate cars on Radcliffe and Mill streets, was unanimously passed.

Similar ordinances have been passed by the borough councils of Morrisville and Tullytown. The construction of the trolley is promised by the officials of the company by the middle of next summer if there are no hitches in the programme. All that remains in the matter of right-of-way is to gain the consent of the supervisors of Bristol and Falls townships.

The Bristol ordinance is a model and thoroughly protects the best interests of the public. The agreement calls for seventy-pound flat rails with a flange of at least two and seven-eighth inches, the space between the rails to be paved with vitrified brick, the proper distance outside the tracks to be macadamized and kept in repair by the company. Iron trolley wire poles are required. The tracks will be placed in the middle of the road on Radcliffe street from the Hollow bridge and on Mill to the juncture with Bath and Otter streets.

A Sunday Evening Discourse.

On Sunday evening Dr. Alison, assisted by John C. Stuckert, Esq., occupied the pulpit of the Bristol Presbyterian Church and told of their experiences with the "speak-easy" cases in court on Saturday.

Dr. Alison declared to the audience that they were highly successful in proving their charges, and declared that he stood by and subtantiated his Thanksgiving sermon, as he did in the Booz investigation. The pastor also declared that all of the statements made in his funeral sermon of Oscar L. Booz were verified.

Dr. Alison declared he was a fighter and urged the formation of a law and order society, that other people and not he or members of the Presbyterian Church alone should prosecute the alleged violators of the law.

Mr. Stuckert gave a detailed description of Dr. Alison's triumph at Doylestown. He said he had been asked why the Court had not ordered indictments for the guilty parties, but the lawyer explained that the Judge could not fairly do so. It was evidently overlooked that the Judge can sit as a committing magistrate and did in the Doylestown liquor cases order the District Attorney to [illegible] indictment.

"These properties will be reorganized and arranged so as to connect with the Union Traction roads, the idea being to ultimately provide a direct trolley line from this city to Trenton."

William A. Stern said last night: "It is our purpose to give a high speed, first-class service between Philadelphia and Trenton. We will parallel the Pennsylvania Railroad between the city line and Bristol, and will run from Bristol to Trenton beside the Pennsylvania's proposed new short line.

Bristol Library Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bristol Library was held on last Thursday evening.

The report of the treasurer, Miss M. A. Gilkeson, giving a detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures for the year, was read, accepted and ordered filed.

The report of the president of the Board of Managers was read, accepted, and its publication in the Bucks County Gazette authorized. It is as follows:

To the Shareholders of the Bristol Library.

It is no novelty to realize that time speeds on space; that year swiftly follows year; that one more century has departed, and that a new one has safely accomplished its advent. Each year brings its duties, some of them repetitions, and once more I am required to make report of the Library. It is easier for the fruit trees to report their blossoming than for an unskilled hand to do this and that is a far more fragrant task. But uninteresting things must be done as well as those that are linked with pleasur.

Ours is a modest Library, and claims but a small nook in the public eye. It is far less noted than the famous Boston Library, and it does not invite comparison with its grand and wonderful competitor which adds such distinguished splendor to the National Capitol; but it has its vital uses; it neatly fills its mission; and we who consult its unnoted treasures have an affection for it which lessens not with the lapse of time; which its very simplicity strengthens; and the regard with which it is cherished shall not be permitted to become stale, flat or unprofitable, even when its days seem dark and its treasury low. Although it be not a great Library, there is enough of it to give some joy to our eyes, some entertainment for the passing hours, as well as amusement, refreshment and delicious pleasure. A good library, though a minnow among Tritons, is a joy forever.

The history of the library during the past year has not been an eventful one. It never is. We are unaccustomed to surprises of that kind. Its motto seems to be "slow but sure." Its growth has been by easy and gentle stages, with no approach to the marvellous. That is the way with the oaks, which become tall and spreading when they reach their climax.

The patrons of the library are innocent of making great numerical changes. They do not comprise the entire population of Bristol, but only sixty-nine thereof—sixty-nine out of the seven thousand who are wise enough to know where to go when they wish to "forget the crossness of men and women and things, compose their cares and passions, and lay their disappointments to sleep." They are as unchanging as a church congregation, and they adhere with beautiful and becoming tenacity to their old love. To this number should be added the thirteen holders of readerships, who also have an appreciation of the edifying privileges within their reach.

According to the librarian's report the number of books taken out during the year in all classes except the Magazines was 4259. The number of times the latter were taken out was 2078. Total increase over last year 38; over the preceding year 767. This shows that the reading industry prospers. The number taken out in class A, history and biography, was 94; class B, miscellanous works, 40; classes C and F, fiction, high, low and intermediate, 4125. The greatest number issued on a single share was 102, an instance of diligent zeal. The number of works now in the library is 2605, comprising 2861 volumes. This number includes class F, 259, the lighter, and cheaper forms of fiction. The number of books purchased during the year was 99.

The receipts during the year, according to the treasurer's report, including the balance carried over, amounted to $321.50. This sum was augmented by receipts from two entertainments, amounting to $120 and $21.75 respectively. Those excellent and energetic friends of the library who projected and managed these entertainments received the well-merited thanks of the Board of Managers for thus materially promoting the welfare of the library. Such sources of revenue are so important to the library, and so essential to the happiness of its patrons, that I am prone to regard them as properly belonging to a class of interests like the serials that enliven the magazines, which awaken hope and expectation by virtue of the mystic words "to be continued."

J. K. WILDMAN,

Bristol, Pa., Jan. 17, 1901. President.

There not being a quorum present no election of a Board of Managers was held.

After the adjournment of the shareholders' meeting the Board of Managers reorganized. John K. Wildman was elected President, Jesse O. Thomas, Secretary, and Miss M. A. Gilkeson, Treasurer.

Miss Esther Lawrence was re-appointed Librarian.

Miss Catharine B. Cabeen was unanimously elected a member of the Board, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Samuel Swain.

The president appointed the following standing committees:

Finance—George A. Shoemaker and W. C. Peirce.

Book—W. L. Kolb, Miss Mary A. Gilkeson and Jesse O. Thomas.

Library—Mrs. W. P. Weaver and Miss S. M. Hawk.

Entertainment—Miss Laura Wood and Mrs. Stacy B. Purcell.

The president is ex-officio a member of each of these committees.

Home Notes.

Philip Halzell has gone on a trip to the Southern States.

John Poore, of Reiglesville, was a guest of Assemblyman Frank G. Edwards on Tuesday.

Miss Belle Louise Detlefson is teaching geography in the grammar department of the Trenton Model School.

William Chester, who was held in his own recognizance by 'Squire Booz, in a desertion case, has left the town.

A new switch engine is expected to arrive today to take the place of the old one which has been run in the Bristol yards by Engineer Joseph Bell and crew.

Howard I. Joyce, son of the late An[illegible] K. Joyce, died at the residence of [illegible]other, A. K. Joyce, at an early hour [illegible]rning. The deceased was 39 years [illegible] and had been an invalid for twen[illegible] years.

[illegible]claimed letters remaining in the Bristol postoffice January 24, 1901:—Jas. V. Turner, John Robertson, Arthur Seamore, Philip Silbert, Lewis Stephen, Margaret L. Steel, Ceelice Kennedy, Samuel Egan (2), George Butler, Bertha Lake, Mrs. Matilda Smith.

The members of America Hose, Hook and Ladder Co., No. 2, are making arrangements to hold a two weeks' fair in March. The funds derived therefrom will be used to equip the members with new uniforms to participate in the annual parade of the State Fire Association, which will be held in Philadelphia in October.

The members of Dr. Alison's Bible class, of the Presbyterian Sunday-school, surprised their teacher last Thursday by calling on him in a body at the manse and presenting him with a handsome oak library table for his study. A pleasant evening was spent at the pastor's home.

Henry A. Blake, Esq., formerly of Bristol, having resided here for a number of years with his family at the residence of Walter Laing, died suddenly at his home in Brooklyn on Sunday. Mr. Blake attended to business all day Saturday, and was apparently in good health. His death is ascribed as being due to kidney disease.

A Georgia Judge who tried to imitate King Solomon in deciding the ownership of a 6-months-old baby, was nonplused when, as he put the infant on the table and announced his intention of cutting it in halves with a big butcher knife, the woman cried: "Don't do that; keep it yourself," and and left the court hurriedly.

PUBLIC OPINION.

"Speak-easy" Investigations.

Editor Gazette:—I have been deeply interested in the "speak-easy" investigation because I felt, perhaps, some good might come of it from the fact it was led by one of our clergy. But it was rather disappointing to have the affair turn out pretty much as the Booz investigation here. Apparently some people have the faculty of making sensational and sweeping assertions which they are unable to substantiate. Among all the mischief-makers who disturb the social world, there is none so busy, so inveterate and irresponsible as that ubiquitous person who declares, "I heard so," or "they say," or "I was misinterpreted." But it must be admitted that it is a very convenient way to crawl out of statements that cannot be verified. After the "speak-easy" investigators had secured evidence against two of the law violators they were advised by the Judge to prosecute them. However, they turn around and urge the people to do the prosecuting on the plea that it is not advisable for clergymen or even an organized church body to do so. If it is fit work for ministers of Christ to probe out these things will some one enlighten me why it is wrong for them to prosecute them? It strikes me from previous knowledge of some of these "purifiers" they would like to have others do the work which they attempt to lead and then sit back after others have accomplished it with the remark, "See what I did."

A Law and Order Society was agitated some time ago, but owing to feeble response it was dropped. But I understand it is to be revived. It might, however, prove a good thing. I would suggest to begin with the pulpit and try to obtain law and order there. I do not altogether disapprove of endeavoring to purify things from the sacred platform, but there is a time and place for all things and certainly at a Thanksgiving Day service where we meet once a year to praise and thank God for His bountiful blessings and goodness to us—it is not the time, to say nothing of the place—to usurp by sensational themes. To pure and reverent minds that regard the teachings of the Founder of Christianity as a divine inspiration, the flippant talk of this style of clergymen is peculiarly repulsive. They display an order of thought which is altogether incompatible with a true veneration of the Divine Power. They simply carry into the pulpit those devices for claiming attention. It has not been uncommon to discover ultimately some mental or moral unsoundness in men who depart from the legitimate texts of the Bible in the hunt for subjects that can be dressed up sensationally and alluringly or that smack of popular gossip. At any rate it is a foolish method of studying social evils. I have often wondered what would the inspired Apostle who wrote "Woe is unto me if I preach not the Gospel" think of their fantastic discourses full of everything but the Gospel. * * *

The Pot and the Kettle.

Editor Gazette:—In the Democratic platform of 1896 attention was called to the fact that the action of the Supreme Court of the United States in declaring the Income Tax unconstitutional was contrary to the uniform decisions of that august body for nearly one hundred years, and it was declared to be the duty of Congress to use all constitutional power which remained after that decision, or which may come by its reversal by the same court as it may thereafter be constituted, to the end that the burden of taxes be equally and impartially laid. This plank as you may recall, was termed by political demogogues and ignoramuses, an "attack" on the Supreme Court. Many sober minded voters were let to believe that the democratic party intended to "pack" the supreme court whilst not a few understood that should the opportunity be given the court would be abolished entirely. By reason of this statement of facts and demand for relief the democrats were stigmatized as traitors and anarchists. Many events have transpired since then. Shortly afterward the court handed down a decision regarding a freight-rate combination in the west. There was no campaign on then, and some republicans spoke their little piece pretty freely. Of course they did not "attack" the court they only exercised the right of free speech. Prior to and since the Christmas holidays the Court's time has been occupied by the arguments in the several cases relating to the Porto Rico Tariff and indirectly involving the status of Porto Rico and the Porto Ricans. The cases are now in the hands of the Court for consideration and the sovereign people are anxiously awaiting the decision of the Court. Since the Dred Scott vs. Sanford case few cases, if any, have arisen which are as important as the present ones relating to Porto Rico. In the constitution of that body Mr. Justice Harlan and Mr. Justice McKenna are distinguished and irreproachable members. Each has a son and the administration fortunately or unfortunately has two important posts of duty to fill in Porto Rico—Attorney General and Inspector General. Among the appointments of the President transmitted to the Senate for confirmation during the last week are:

For Attorney General of Porto Rico: Mr. Justice Harlan's son.

For Inspector General of Porto Rico: Mr. Justice McKenna's son.

Strange isn't it? Of course we believe it just a mere coincidence but you know there are evil-minded people in this world—mostly Democrats—and some of these might argue that there are worse forms of attack on the Supreme Court than honest criticism and that those who threw stones in '96 appear to live in glass houses.

"ONE OF THE ANARCHISTS."

Local Jottings.

Editor Gazette:—At the last meeting of Council two matters were brought up which are of rather more than ordinary interest. One was an application from the management of the Bristol Auditorium for a remission of the $50 license fee. This in view of the character of the performances frequently held there, seems almost the height of impertinence. These performances, according to accounts verbal and printed, sometimes become almost riotous, and when anything is on hand there the street in front of the building is frequently blockaded by a noisy crowd, making it exceedingly unpleasant for quiet folks to get by. All this requires additional attention from the peace officers and why the management, in the face of these facts, ask for a remittance of the moderate tax "passes all understanding." Council had best move slowly in this case. Another matter of importance was the action taken in ordering the Fire Committee to investigate the means of escape from this place in case of fire. It is not one moment too soon that such action has been taken, and it is to be hoped that not only this building, but another place frequently used for public meetings, be required to comply with the State laws in relation to fire-escapes. The Borough Attorney should give the committee every assistance in this good work.

And finally. If the remarks of Judge Yerkes at the "speak-easy" hearing last week would be seriously pondered by our good citizens, and if they would do their part as then suggested, we would soon have some things different in Bristol. As it is, everybody wants things improved, but everybody wants some one else to "bell the cat." The writer believes that there is a desire on the part of the officers of the borough to do their duty, but this is hard work unless the "best people" are willing to do something besides grumble and complain. And furthermore, when we see a public man trying to do what he ought to do let us stand back of him, support him, and not let his efforts go without any visible and public effort at appreciation.

For Supervisor.

William L. Brown, of Edgely, is a candidate for supervisor of Bristol township. Mr. Brown declares he is in favor of trolleys and wishes to go before the people on that platform at the primaries on Saturday evening.

BASKET BALL.

BRISTOL DEFEATS NEW YORK IN A FAST GAME BY THE SCORE OF 29 TO 28.

For the second time since Bristol has been in the National League they succeeded in defeating the New York basket ball team at the Auditorium on last Thursday evening before a large crowd of spectators in one of the fastest games ever played on the home floor.

The Gothamites were tied up in a railroad wreck and failed to reach Bristol until nearly ten o'clock, but when they got here they lost no time in getting into action and put up a fast article of basket ball from start to finish.

The game started off at a brisk pace just as soon as Referee Rutschman put the ball into play and the only time that New York was right at the start, when they secured one point from a free throw. After this the home team took the lead and maintained it throughout the entire game. The score at the end of the first half was 16 to 12 in Bristol's favor.

The second half opened up with very little change in the line-up of either team, the only alteration being that of Grief taking Hamil's place on the New York team.

Both teams started to score at once and it was only a question for a while who could throw goals the faster but Bristol proved the superior and when the bell was rung it was found that the home team was in the lead by the score of 29 to 28.

Mr. Rutschman, the referee, was a bit off color and some of his decisions were positively ridiculous and Bristol received the worst and throughout the entire game. The line-up:

Bristol	Positions	New York
Klein	forward	Wendleken
Hough	forward	Grief, Hamil
Everingham	centre	K. Abadie
Bennett	guard	Dietrich
Plant	guard	Reed

Goals from field—Klein 5, Hough 5, Bennett, Wendleken 7, K Abadie 2, Reed. Goals from offence—Everingham 7, Reed 3. Offences—Hough 4, Everingham 6, Plant 4, Wendleken 3, Grief 2, Hamil 2, K. Abadie, Dietrich 2, Reed 3. Referee—Rutschman. Time—20-minute halves.

Basket Ball Notes.

Rutschman was "on the pork."

Neither of Bennett's men scored.

Bob Abadie was on the bench.

Everingham was sure on free throws.

"Riley," "Riley," was the cry of the rooters.

"Mother" Dietrich had his hands full with Hough.

Plant played Wendleken hard but could not stop him.

Score at end of first half, 16 to 12 in favor of Bristol.

Looked like New York towards the latter part of the game.

About forty people came over from Burlington last Thursday evening.

Wendleken got five goals in the last half—three within that many minutes.

New York was late in arriving but played fast ball when they got started.

Hough and Klein each secured five field goals in the New York game last week.

Bennett has proven himself one of the speediest defence men Bristol ever had.

On Monday evening a picked team defeated the Nassau Wheelmen at the Auditorium by a score of 14 to 7.

Snow does not appear to be in form but with practice will no doubt prove to be a wonder again. Give him a trial.

The Second Central baket ball team played a game of basket ball with the Athletic team on Saturday. The Second Centrals won by the score of 28 to 12. It was one of the fastest games they ever played.

The following was extracted from the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph: "Last Thursday evening the St. Paul A. C., of Bristol, forfeited the game between them and the Nassau Wheelmen, of the same place, to the Wheelmen by a score of 4 to 0. St. Paul started scrapping, and when they found that the Wheelmen were also willing to mix things up they got hot in the neckband of their shirts, and, picking up their cigarettes, left the hall."

Won From Trenton.

In a fast and brilliant game the Bristol National League basket ball team won from Trenton last night by the score of 32 to 20.

The game was a fierce struggle from start to finish as both teams realized the importance of winning the game. It meant chances of winning the pennant for each. Bristol was somewhat handicapped by the absence of Bennett, the home team's star guard. Madeley was also absent. Snow was given an opportunity to show his worth, and redeemed himself and is no longer to be considered a "has-been." While frequently penalized for holding his playing was of a clean order and his sensational shot from deep centre when two points were highly desirable, set the "rooters" wild.

The audience was the largest of the season, about two hundred people coming down from Trenton.

Stout scored the first point in the game on a free throw. Everingham tied the score in a similar manner. The next two points were scored by Stout on charity throws, followed by Bristol's lanky centre for one point. Stout then shot a pretty goal from the field making the score 5 to 2 in favor of Jersey.

Fourteen minutes had been played and Bristol was still stuck on the two points, the "rooters" were getting "blue" when Klein got his eye on the target and sent it swishing through the net. Hough got the ball next and with Mellick hanging on like a famished crab he landed a beauty with Trenton's little sorrel guard hanging on his back.

The first half ended with the score tied at 12 points. The second half opened with no changes in either line-up. Snow landed a sensational goal from side centre, but while doing so he was injured by being sent spinning into the screen by Enderbrock. Klein followed with another and the score then stood 17 to 18 in favor of the home team. Hough scored another with one hand.

The game was brilliant throughout and wan strictly on its merits. Every member of the locals played for all there was in them. Plant's sturdy work was commendable. And in spite of the fact that he was suffering from a sore foot, his blocking and interference was fine. The line-up:

Bristol.	Positions.	Trenton.
Klein	forward	Stout
Hough	forward	Cooper, Reilly
Everingham	centre	Enderbrock
Plant	guard	Stinger
Snow	guard	Harrison, Mellick

Goals from field—Klein 7, Hough 2, Snow 2, Plant, Stout 2, Cooper 2. Goals from offense—Everingham 8, Stout 12. Offenses—Klein, Hough 2, Everingham 6, Plant 5, Snow 10, Stout 4, Enderbrock 6, Stinger 3, Mellick 5. Referee—Reily.

Goal Throwing Contest.

In a goal throwing contest at the Auditorium previous to the game last Thursday evening, Charlie Klein carried off first honors, dropping the ball through the net 19 times out of a possible 25. "Sleepy" Bill Everingham was second with 18. The full scores were as follows: Klein 19, Everingham 18, Coyle 16, Mulliner 16, Hough 14, Madely 14, Plant 18, Bennett 7, Snow 4.

Champions Again Victorious.

On Monday afternoon the Centrals defeated the Stiff Shirts by the score of 48 to 32. The line-up:

Centrals	Positions	Stiff Shirts
Saxton	forward	Wright
Brown	forward	Louderbough
S. Hellings	centre	Fine
J. Grace	guard	Silbert
K. Hellings	guard	Evans, W. Grace

Hogan's Alley Defeated.

The Hogan's Alley and the W. R. S. played a fast and exciting game of basket ball Tuesday evening in the Auditorium. The game was full of brilliant plays. Campbell of the Hogans shot a pretty goal from deep centre. Campbell and Kemble did the best work for the Hogans, while Frebe, Cooper and Vandegrift excelled for the W. R. S. The first half ended 11 to 6 in favor of the Hogans but the W. R. S. braced up in the second half and by good team work won out by the score of 16 to 15. The line-up:

Hogan's Alley		W. R. S.
Kemble	forward	Frebe
Walmsley,	forward	Gallagher
Coulthard		Cooper
Campbell,	centre	Cooper
E. Johnson		Green
G. Johnson	guard	Bou, Green
E. Johnson,	guard	Vandegrift
Gentleman

Goals from field—Frebe 3, Cooper 3, Green, Vandegrift, Kemble 3, Campbell 2, Coulthard, Walmsley. Goals from offense—Campbell. Offenses—Kemble 2, G. Johnson, E. Johnson, Vandegrift 2, Frebe, Green 2. Timekeeper—William Wright. Referee—A. Jeffries. Time of halves—20-minutes.

S. P. A. C. vs. Nassau Wheelmen A. C.

A game of basket ball was played in the hall of the S. P. A. C. on January 15th. The game was a scrappy one and the Nassaus started in fighting when the score stood 11 to 8 in favor of St. Paul. The referee disqualified Sheppard and Graham for scrapping. Sheppard refused to leave the floor; the referee gave the game to St. Paul on forfeit by the score of 4-0. This being the fourth strait win for St. Paul.

Checker Tournament.

The checker tournament held by the Nickname Club, which has been in progress for some time past, ended on Friday night. Peter Jackson won the championship of the club, having gotten 12 out of the 20 games played, and made 4 draws, Filbert Allen is second with 11 games won, 7 lost and 2 draws. The conditions of the contest were that each contestant was to play 5 games with each other, all drawn games to be counted as games played.

The Nickname Club is an organization composed of a number of our best young men and has its headquarters at Johnson's barber shop, on Pond street. The genial proprietor is president and Peter Jackson, secretary and treasurer.

The score in the tournament was as follows:

Senator Rice Recognized.

The Senate Slate Committee, in distributing the forty places among the Senators, ignored the Insurgents, with the exception of Senator Rice, of Bucks county, who early in the contest announced his intention to vote for Senator Snyder for President pro tem., when it was thought that the two forces would be a tie. Senator Scott, of Philadelphia, Chairman of the Slate Committee, handed in the list of employees agreed upon, and they were elected without opposition.

Senator Rice secured the appointment of E. Stanton Kitchin, of Lumberville, as Assistant Doorkeeper of the Senate. Mr. Kitchin is a well-known Republican.

A. M. E. Church Notes.

The protracted meetings at the A. M. E. Church, Wood street, closed last Sunday. As a result of these meetings seventeen persons have been added to the membership of the church, and others are to be received next Sunday. On Monday night, 21st., the Sunday school, at a meeting of its board, elected the following officers: Asher Conn, superintendent; Geo. Fisher, assistant superintendent; Isaac Freeman, secretary; Harry Northgates, assistant secretary; Chas. Young, treasurer; Willis Clark, librarian; Wilmer Fisher, assistant librarian; Arthur Freeman, collector; Frank Pierce, organist; A. Conn, choirister. The following teachers were elected: Rev. Theo. A. Smythe, Ph. B.; Miss Jennie Freeman, Geo. Fisher, Mrs. Clara Pierce, Mrs. Mary Young, Mrs. Northgates, E. Tolston, Mrs. Frank Massey.

Twenty-fifth Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Wright celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary at their home, No. 509 Bath street, on Friday evening, January 18th, where a very enjoyable evening was spent by both young and old. Those who were there and sat down to a very bountiful repast of good things were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Wright (bride and groom); Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wright, of Newtown; Mr. and Mrs. Martin B. White, Hulmeville; Mrs. Hannah Everitt, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Everitt, Newportville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Wright, Marguerette, Marion and Earl Wright, of Emilie; Mr. and Mrs. S. H. King, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hellings, Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Williams, Mrs. Elwood LaRue, Mrs. William Leigh, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. LaRue, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown, Miss Katie King, John F. King, Miss Lilian A. LaRue, Legrande LaRue, Miss Charlotte Williams, Harry Williams, Miss Mamie Lovett, Arthur Leigh, Lovett Leigh, Miss Elizabeth Hellings, Frank Hellings, of Edgely, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Neisser, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stuckert, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blackwood, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Magill, Jesse J. Magill, Mrs. Louisa Bunting, Mrs. Wilson Randall, Mrs. Mary Duncan, Mrs. John Warwick, Miss Bessie Wright, Miss Laura Wright, Miss Ella B. Warwick, Miss Claudine V. Magill, A. M. Stout, Master Charles R. Wright, Charles Warwick, of Bristol.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wright celebrated their golden wedding in 1900, and were married by the same minister who married Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Wright—Rev. Mr. Andrews, of Doylestown.

After each one had been well supplied with the good things, and all had enjoyed a sociable time and wishing their host and hostess many more returns of the same, the guests at a late hour bid good-byes, wishing that all meet again.

A SPECTACLE OF WAR

HOW A GREAT ARMY APPEARS WHEN ON THE MARCH.

Description of the Order In Which a British Column Advances When It Is Preparing to Attack the Stronghold of an Enemy.

A British column advancing in time of war through an enemy's country is at once a magnificent and a remarkable spectacle; or rather, to be quite correct, it would be, provided the eye could take in all the details at a single glance.

But that is just precisely what the eye cannot do. A column of even moderate strength, when on the move, lengthens itself out abnormally, so much so indeed that a body of troops which in review order could be packed within a moderate sized parade ground will occupy ribbon-wise eight, ten or even more miles of country.

We will, therefore, take up a position on an eminence and watch in imagination a column of British regulars marching on an enemy's stronghold.

First there will come in sight, riding at a walking pace, a solitary pair of horsemen. These are the advance points, as they are termed, and are thrown forward perhaps a mile ahead of the vanguard. They are on the lookout for the enemy, and on the first hint of danger it is their duty to ride back to left and right and alarm the flankers.

These latter are thrown out fanwise from the cavalry which screens the infantry vanguard, and they in turn pass the word back along the trailing, snakelike ribbon of armed men, till within half an hour, say, of the enemy's being first sighted the entire command knows of the threatened danger and is prepared to deal with it.

The two advanced points have been well likened to a couple of electric buttons, which, on being touched, thrill the alarm down both flanks throughout the entire length of the column with which they are in communication. The simile is not quite perfect, however, for the alarm is sounded by these living electric buttons while yet the danger is remote. Some hundreds of yards in the rear of the cavalry screen comes the advanced guard, subdivided into a vanguard and a main guard. This latter constitutes the first fighting unit of the advancing column, and its strength is of course proportionate to the strength of the force it is covering. With it are field and machine guns, sappers, miners, engineers, ambulances, reserve ammunition wagons and so forth. In fact, the advance guard of a large column constitutes in itself a fighting force—a miniature army, so to speak, complete in practically all essential details. After the advanced guard has passed we shall probably see, emerging from the clouds of dust which always except in wet weather envelops as with a mantle a column on the march, another solitary pair of horsemen and then at intervals another and yet another. These are the connecting links. A half troop, or perhaps, if the force is a large one, a whole troop of cavalry will come next, then more connecting links and lastly the officer commanding, surrounded and accompanied by his staff. The uninitiated in matters military will now probably expect to see the main body of the army, but no. A single infantry battalion, or maybe two, will perhaps pass, marching strictly "to attention," bayonets fixed and officers' swords carried aslant at the slope, after which there will heave slowly into sight an apparently endless train of field artillery, machine guns, ammunition wagons, ambulances, tool carts, forage and store wagons and numbers of led horses. It is only when this heterogeneous procession has come to an end that the thickening of the dust cloud and the measured tramp, tramp, tramp, herald the approach of the infantry brigades. On they come, rifles at the slope or at the trail, talking, laughing, joking, singing, smoking, as though war and its attendant horrors were a thousand miles away. On they come—and still on! Battalion after battalion, brigade after brigade.

It becomes almost monotonous after awhile, for the mighty fighting machines, each composed of 1,000 or more individual fighting units, swing past with mechanical precision of gigantic automata. Everything moves as if by clockwork. Thirty paces interval is the regulation distance between battalions and brigades, and 30 paces interval it is—no more, no less. There is no slackening, no hesitancy, for all the apparent free and easiness. A company lags but a foot or two. It is spurred sharply forward by a biting phrase—half expostulation, half command—uttered by its captain. A battalion does likewise, and a wave from the hand of its ever watchful chief sends the adjutant galloping down the right flank, exploding as he goes. So is the force kept "strung up." And a very necessary process is this same stringing up. The loss of a few yards at the head means hundreds at the tail. Trivial check to the front of a long column is a serious delay to the men in the rear of it, and continual stepping out or rapid closing tends to exhaust troops.

With the passing of the rearmost brigade the interest to the average spectator largely vanishes. True, there follow more machine guns, more tool carts, ammunition wagons, led horses, etc., but all these have been seen before. The bearer companies, with their trim stretchers and the Red Cross of Geneva showing conspicuously on their tunic sleeves, arouse a brief curiosity, but they are out of sight, swallowed up in the dust cloud almost ere we realize their presence. If, however, we care to occupy our position for another hour or so we shall see yet another cloud of dust advancing toward us. This is formed by the baggage train which follows all armies. Lastly comes the rear guard, followed by a small detachment of military police, whose duty it is to look after stragglers.—London Express.

They Object to "Japs."

With regard to the objectionable abbreviation "Jap," the Japanese newspaper Yorodzu Choho says: "To us the word 'Japs' always sounds like an insult. Whenever we see it used in American papers, we are tempted to return the insult in the fashion a witty Japanese did to an impolite American. The American said to him, 'Which nese are you, Japanese or Chinese?' Without making any reply to the question, the Japanese said curtly, 'Which kee are you, monkey or Yankee?'"

Transferred Responsibility.

"Oh, Bobby, Bobby! Everybody will blame me if you misbehave."

"Well, ma, you can blame it all back on your pa and ma."—Indianapolis Journal.

Food Nicknames.

In London a sheep's head stewed with onions is called a "field lane duck." Potatoes are "Irish apricots" and "Munster plums." A herring is called in different localities of England a "Digby chicken," a "Norfolk capon," a "Dunbar wether" or a "Gourock ham." In France it is customary to call a herring a "poulet de carême" (Lenten fowl). In our own country, in New England, codfish is frequently known as "Cape Cod turkey."

Excellent Prospects.

Papa—H'm! What are his prospects?

The Heiress—He says he can settle with his creditors for a shilling on the pound!—Brooklyn Life.

Why the turkey is called a turkey has been much discussed without reaching any definite conclusion. One theory is that the turkey named himself by his peculiar "turk," which sounds like "turk, turk, turk."

CELERY KING
NATURE'S CURE

It Makes Restful Sleep.

Sleeplessness almost invariably accompanies constipation and its manifold attendant evils—nervous disorders, indigestion, headache, loss of appetite, etc. To attempt to induce sleep by opiates is a serious mistake, for the brain is only benumbed and the body suffers. Celery King removes the cause of wakefulness by its soothing effect on the nerves and on the stomach and bowels.

HOW WE PERSPIRE.

The Miles of Sweat Glands That Are on the Human Body.

"It may be interesting to know that one perspires more on the right side of the body than on the left and that the skin of the palm of the hand excretes four and a half times as much proportionately to the surface as the skin of the back," says Harvey Sutherland in Ainslee's. "The pores in the ridges of the palm number as many as 3,000 to the square inch. They are scarcest on the back, where there are only 400 to the square inch. These pores are not simple holes or perforations in the hide, as some imagine, but are little pockets lined with the same epithelium or pavement stuff that covers the external of the body. They run straight down into the deepest structure of the skin, and there they kink up and coil around till they look like a fishing line that has been thrown down wet. Inclosed in this knot are little veins that leak the perspiration through the walls of the tube, and it wells up to the surface of the skin.

"It is estimated that the average sized man has 7,000,000 of these sweat glands, aggregating 28 miles of tubing. Think of it! Twenty-eight miles if all those tiny tubes could be straightened out and put end to end! These figures, wonderful though they may seem, are on the very best medical authority. They are the figures of men who have given their lives to the study of this subject. But still, if they seem too large to you, there is just as good medical authority for the statement that there are 2,400,000 sweat glands on the human body, each one-fifteenth of an inch long, and that their aggregate length is two miles and a half. Think of it! Two miles and a half!

"If you object to that, too, I have the very best authority for the statement that they are one-quarter of an inch long and aggregate more than nine miles, or I can figure it for you at seven miles or 12 miles. Take your pick. Our motto is, 'We aim to please.' If one figure suits you more than another, it's yours. We can substantiate it by the very best medical authority.

"I find only one figure, however, for the amount of liquid secreted by the skin of an average person in a year, though it is evident that the quantity must vary greatly according as the person works in an incehouse or rides a bicycle up hill. From the average person in a year's time there ooze through the pores of the skin 1,500 pounds of water. Let us see: 'A pint's a pound the world around,' two pints make one quart; four quarts one gallon—oh, well, you cipher it out for yourself. I never was much of a hand at figures."

Grotesque Soldiers.

"When the government wants soldiers," writes a Santo Domingo correspondent of the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "it simply sends out into the country districts and seizes them. At first the men seized are a little discontented, but when they find that they can do nothing in the army better than in their ordinary haunts, and that there is a pale, ineffectual ray of glory attached to the carrying of a gun and a cartridge belt, they take a pride in their new dignity.

"Each man is furnished with one suit of clothes a year, but as time progresses he gambles away his buttons, his coat, his trousers and his hat, keeping only his gun and his belt. As the army, except on the first of the year, is always composed of soldiers in the different stages of gambling away their wardrobe, they make distinctly a picturesque display as they march through the streets on a state occasion.

"The government guarantees them four meals a day, but often forgets, in the great heat of that climate, to keep to its guarantee. The shoes furnished are supposed to be leather. In reality they are pasteboard, but as the soldiers prefer to go barefoot this makes very little difference."

promises to eclipse all records during the coming year.

To its already large staff of contributors of international reputation have been added a number of the most popular novelists and literary stars of the day.

The best known water color artists will furnish special sketches for which will be further artistically illustrated with finest half tone pictures, exquisitely decorated in colors.

The Handsome Color Section

Everything possible to modern, 20th Century journalism will be done to make the Sunday Inquirer what it has always been in the past—

Pennsylvania's Greatest Newspaper

Look through the following list of well known authors who have been engaged to write specially for the Inquirer.

Articles for young and older people by Joel Chandler Harris the man who has been the idol of childhood for more than a generation.

Charles Battell Loomis, the new author who has come out with a new series of stories written especially for children. Mr. Loomis suddenly acquired fame as a funny writer and there is no author for whom the children look more carefully. His stories are decidedly pleasing to the elders who cannot but enjoy the wit and the comical ideas.

Seumas Macmanus, the great Irish author with his quaint and comical fairy stories as well as his stories of real life.

Marie Taft Wentworth who has for years been famous for her cooking recipes.

A. Conan Doyle, one of the foremost authors of the day.

Bret Harte, probably the greatest living American author, one whose stories of Western life have entertained more people than the works of any other American.

Martha McCullough Williams, whose short stories are always first-class.

W. W. Jacobs, whose stories of sea life have never been equaled for action, interest and uniqueness.

Oliver Optic, the name that every man remembers as one of the heroes of his happy boyhood days. His stories for boys have a charm that has never been equaled.

Cyrus Townsend Brady, the Philadelphian, whose stirring novels of the sea have made him famous the country over within a few short years.

Annie Katherine Green, whose books have had most wonderful sales, and whose detective stories are as exciting as any ever written.

K. Temple More, who has written some of the most successful thrilling love tales; an old favorite with Inquirer readers.

Sir Robert Barr.

Edward S. Ellis, who is renowned for his stories for boys and girls.

A series of astronomical articles written in a popular vein by C. de Saint-Germain, the great astronomer.

S. R. Crockett.

P. Y. Black.

Susan Brown Robbins.

Other interesting special features will be issued from time to time, due announcement of which will be made in The Inquirer.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE is the leading exponent in the United States of the development of mines, farms, factories, mills, railroads and trade, and all other practical sources of the common weal.

Two editions of the paper are pre-eminently suited for general reading—the WEEKLY and the TRI-WEEKLY.

The WEEKLY, issued every Thursday, is a compact news, agricultural and family paper, unexcelled for cultivators of the soil and their families. Its market reports have given that edition special reputation. Numerous special departments are projected and managed so as to attract every household and all the members thereof. Several half-tone pictures appear in each number. Price $1 a year.

The TRI-WEEKLY, printed Monday, Wednesday and Friday, is a handsome, spirited and condensed every-other-day daily newspaper, easily the best publication of its class in the United States. It has all the special features of the Weekly and the important news of the Daily, and is printed and mailed at the same time as the Daily. The news—clean, accurate and fairly presented—is admirably displayed according to its value, and is never distorted. For political news you cannot find any better newspaper, and the news is given without any political bias. The editorial page breathes the spirit of purest patriotism and broadest charity, untainted by any consideration save the welfare of the home and the country. Its reviews are pungent, wise and witty. The TRI-WEEKLY $1.50 a year. Sample copies free.

Don't you think that such an admirable national newspaper should be in your own house? Thousands of people read some edition of THE TRIBUNE.

Don't you think that the 52 issues of the WEEKLY, or the 156 issues of the TRI-WEEKLY, per annum each one handsome in appearance, full of the best news and reviews, well illustrated, a purchase for your family?

We will send either edition, the balance of the year, free, to those subscribing now for the year 1901.

Your order can be handed to the local postmaster or sent to the office direct.

TRIBUNE ALMANAC 1901, at End of the Century number. Ready in January. Enlarged, carefully revised, with a rich budget of new features. 25 cents postpaid.

Any reader, so situated that he can raise a club for THE TRIBUNE will oblige us by sending for terms and sample copies.
